Here and There

MONTREAL with 926,000; Toronto with 327,582; Winnipeg with 217,057; and Vancouver with 245,307, were the four largest cities in the Dominion on the Federal Government census returns for 1931.

Saskatchewan ranks second to Ontario as an egg-producing province with an estimated production of over thirty million dozen eggs. Total production of products to Canadian farmers in 1930 was $29,000,000.

United States motor traffic to New Brunswick for the current season up to July 31 was 12 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1930, according to a tabulation just issued by the Provincial Government Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel.

What is regarded as probably the highest park in the world is the Nelsford Park on Mount Robson in the Canadian Rockies, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific trans-continental system. It is over 10,000 feet above sea level and is above the timber line. There is a new motor road to the summit of the mountain.

Evangelical Memorial Park, Nova Scotia, with its chapel and museum dedicated to the memory of the Rev. Dr. Lorne Mowat's poem and of the Acadian pioneer, has been visited by more than 94,000 tourists since it was opened in 1924. It is announced from Dominion Atlantic Railway headquarters.

Steady development of young Canada's interest in farming has increased to the point where a Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work has been formed to coordinate the various agricultural movements as a whole. The programme has been broadened to include practically every line and development of modern farming in Canada.

Hanover officials of the Canadian Pacific Express Company at Victoria played nurse recently to a mother and her family of 14 when "Foxy," a sad-eyed retriever, carried a message from Nelson, B.C., became the mother of 14 puppies. Hurry-up calls were put through for the coming week. A clever youth, who was overjoyed to find the unexpected parcel.

When Dr. Josef Wislawski, surgeon of the S.S. Polonia, suffered an attack of appendicitis, his life was saved by the intervention of Dr. J. B. McLean, of the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond, who attended him after a boat had been lowered and the stricken physician had got aboard the Duchess. The incident occurred recently when the Duchess of Richmond was 300 miles off the coast of Ireland.

With a jammed rifle and a racing grizzly, a few yards distant, Dr. J. B. McLean, of Portland, Oregon, guest at the Balfour Springs Hotel, on a hunting expedition in the Palouse River section of the Canadian Rockies, had a narrow escape. The bear animal delayed its attack long enough for the doctor to clear his rifle and shoot it. His bag on the back of his saddle contained black bears, three goats and two elk. (781)

The U. F. A. Convention.

On Thursday, Nov. 5, the annual convention of Stony Plain U. F. A. Constituency association will be held at Magnolia, with the president of the association, Mr. W. F. Broadstock, in the chair. Various matters of importance to U.F.A. members will come up for discussion.

The Hon. J. E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, will be present, and give an address. Others to make addresses are: Mr. Robert Gardiner, a member of the House of Commons and president of the United Farmers; Mrs. A. Warr, president of the U. E. W. A.; and Assemblyman Donald MacLeod.

It is expected delegates will be present from all the U. F. Locals in the Stony Plain constituency.

Strongarm Ernst.

That the strong men have not all passed away was exemplified the other evening at the Rosenthal district. None other than Herr Karl Ernst Albert Arntz was the winner of a large wager when he packed a two bushel and a half sack of wheat (150 lbs.) on his shoulder from the Menary corner up the Kukuk hill, estimated at two furlongs. To win, he was not to let the bag down and he was to keep moving. He made ten return trips, and won the money. He claims the championship of Golden Spike and Rosenthal, and is willing to meet all comers.

Will Handle Anyone's Grain.

We would again remind grain growers of Alberta that Alberta wheat pool elevators are now operated on a public license basis. These elevators are thus in a position to handle grain delivered by any person, and in any manner desired by the owner, under the provisions of the Canada Grain act. The reputation of Alberta pool elevators for fair treatment should be an inducement for all grain growers to patronise the Pool elevators.

U. F. A. Co-operative.

The first dividend period on business done by the U. F. A. Co-operative Committee will close Oct. 31, and a distribution of patronage dividends to all branches of the movement which have made use of the facilities provided by Central Office for the purchase of the commodities handled will be paid thereafter.

The plan of the Committee is to declare dividends 4 times every year, and Oct. 31 will be regarded as the end of the first quarterly period. The dividend on binder twine, however, will not be available for distribution at that time, as the business will not have been completely cleaned up until a few weeks later. A special dividend period will be set for this commodity, which will be dealt with separately.

A Time For Self Control

As Shakespeare once put it, "the tides are out of joint." Men's nerves are on edge, and little things that would be passed over lightly in good times are every day becoming the cause of quarrels. Because nerves are on edge, tempers are not under control even to the extent they usually are, and in the case of most people tempers are never controlled as they should be.

Today people will argue and dispute about almost anything, and lose their tempers over the most trivial matters which are of no importance whatever. The old British motto: "Beware of entrance to a quarell; but, being in, bear it that the opposed may beware of thee" Abraham Lincoln, however, said that while this advice was good, it was not the best, and he substituted: "Quarrel not at all. No man, resolved to make the most of himself, can spare time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take the consequences, including the vitiation of his temper and the loss of self-control. Yield larger things to which you show no more than equal right; and yield lesser ones through clearly your own. Better give your path to a dog than be bitten by him in contesting for the right. Even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

This is not to say that a man should sacrifice so much as one important conviction, or yield his principles for the sake of peace or profit. There are times when a man should get mad, when we could feel nothing but contempt for him if he did not. But such occasions are few and far between. The trivial, inconsequential things should never be the cause of disputation or outbreak of tempers.

We are reminded of the three-word Latin motto above the doorway of the common chamber in the Guildhall in which the aldermen of London hold their court and which no one of them can fail to see: "Audi alteram partem." Hear the other side.

And in old England, with its long years of experience in handling human beings of all classes and degrees in all parts of the world, how much wiser than other nations is she in dealing with agitators. The Old Land long ago learned that talk, like any other gas, is dangerous only when compressed. Younger countries, Canada included, has yet to learn that lesson. So we find in London, instead of attempting to suppress the Hyde Park orators, the British authorities supply police protection for them, let them say their say, and do not quarrel with them.

And what is the cause of most misunderstandings, leading to loss of temper and open warfare? Is not the self-optimised state we are wasting our energies and increasing our blood pressure trying over trivial things, to set somebody else right? Instead of accepting people as they are, we are forever trying to mold their lives to our preconceived model, endeavouring to organize them. How many married couples live in a state of tenison because one or both seek to make the other over. If once the idea could get abroad that the real appeal of the sexes is the fact that they are not alike, what a great gain that would be. And what applies to the sexes applies equally to races, creeds, and other established facts of life.

Let us stop trying to organize the lives of other people, and attend strictly to the task of organizing our own. Let us master the lesson that, after all, there are comparatively few issues in this world worth disputing over. It would, of course, be a sad day for the world if righteous indignation vanished from it, if men became so immersed in the scramble for power and place of power that they could no longer get mad over possible wrongs and gross injustices. But the point is that too much of the world's anger is poured out in defence of pride or prejudice instead of conviction.

As one old Roman philosopher said: "Many have suffered for talking; none ever suffered for keeping silent." And, on another occasion, "We cannot be wrong in leaving other people's business alone."

Using Seed Cleaning Unit

Saskatchewan Municipalities Taking Advantage Of Outfits Supplied

Several municipalities in Saskatchewan already have made applications to the Field Crop Branch of the Department of Agriculture for seed cleaning units as supplied by the Saskatchewan Government in co-operation with the Dominion Seed Branch. Under this scheme, the Governments furnish the machinery, the municipality being required to provide the motive power and the housing accommodation. All the outfits supplied to date have been of an itinerant nature, and may be transported from farm to farm during the seed cleaning period.

Suffered Severe, Painful Cramps In Her Stomach

Those terrible cramps in the stomach that double you up in pain and makes you break out in a cold perspiration, may be stopped by a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Lillian Jones, 204 Argyle St., Halifax, N.S. writes: "I have suffered really severe and painful cramps in my stomach. I tried several remedies without result. One day a friend advised me to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I bought a bottle and got instant relief."

Sheep Buried In Snow

Found Alive Eight Weeks After South African Storm

Hundreds of South Africans saw a fall of snow for the first time in their lives during a recent heavy storm on Table Mountain and other Cape ranges. While the present season is "winter" on this side of the equator, snow has rarely been seen this far south.

From the interior comes a story of how 18 sheep lived for eight weeks under a thick mantle of snow in the Molteno district.

Although completely hemmed in, they managed to keep alive by breathing through the melting snow and eating the grass on the floor of the aperture, as well as snow. When found they were little more than skeletons. They are now recovering.

AS SLIM AS AT 20

Still Fit and Active at 55

"I have been taking the small dose of Kruschen Salts every morning for the last three years. I wouldn't be without it now. I am 55 years old, with constipation and piles, but am never troubled in that way now. I am 55 years, and as slim as when I was 20. I am the wife of an invalid father to attend to, and I always say it's the Kruschen that keeps me fit." — M. S. Knutson, of Laramie, Wyoming, for keeping slim, for keeping spirits fat away. The trouble with most folks is finding the necessary energy. That is where Kruschen comes in.

After you have had your daily supply of Kruschen every morning for a couple of weeks you'll get what is the world over as "That Kruschen thing."

The urge for activity will be entirely satisfied, you need not be content to sit in an arm chair after your day's work is done.

You'll feel the spirit of youth within you—when you're feeling tired—will want to take long walks, play games and your work will cease to be a hardship—it will become a pleasure.

Trade and Commerce

Oregon has a buy-at-home campaign and so has the state of Washington. Each is cancelling contracts which have been made across the border. Keep it up. Buy only in your own state, buy only in your own home town, buy only on your own side of the street, buy only from a member of your own family and thus get rich. The whole idea of trade and commerce must, it seems, be old-fashioned and foolish.—Toronto Star.

Exhausted From Asthma. Many who read these words know the horrible drain upon health and strength which comes in the train of asthma—especially in children. Medical science, however, has one true remedy which will surely stop this disease. Dr. J. A. Kellogg's Asthma remedy is wonderful in stopping this enervating ailment. It has a countless record of relief to its credit. It sold almost everywhere.

Saskatchewan University

Increased Attendance Is Shown For The Current Term

Formerly, students returning up to Saskatchewan University brought up the enrollment in the regular classes to 1,043 or 47 less than last year, announces President W. C. Murray. To offset this number enrolled in the correspondence courses has increased by 57 to 303, giving a net increase of ten students.

The decline is mainly in the college of arts and sciences. The College of Pharmacy shows reduced enrollment, and engineering a considerable increase. The other colleges have about the same numbers as on the corresponding day last year.

Canada Has Thousands Of Level Crossings

Removal Of All Impossible Says Hon. Frank Oliver

The Dominion at present has some 28,000 level crossings scattered along railway lines from coast to coast despite expenditure of $15,189,000 over the past 21 years. The removal of all of these is impossible to traffic, according to Hon. Frank Oliver, advisory officer to the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, in a paper before the recent convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at Lucerne-in-Quebec.

In 1930, a total of 341 railway crossing accidents in Canada took a toll of 115 lives and 475 injured, Mr. Oliver stated. Through the efforts of the Board of Railway Commissioners much had been done to improve railway crossing conditions. Mr. Oliver continued.

Crossing accidents on provincial highways formed less than one-third of the total for 1930, the great majority of crossings fatalities occurring on country roads.

The annual government grant of $200,000 to the Board for the railway crossing fund was inadequate, the speaker said, and it would be impossible to entirely remove all level crossings in the Dominion.

J. P. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles of Ontario, said the death rate exceeded three persons a day on Canada's roads. The total of automobile fatalities in the year 1930 was 1,289, and the injured were approximately 40,000.

No Longer a Bugbear

Britain's Departure From Gold Standard Not Likely To Harm Anybody

The United States owns nearly half the gold supply of the world. At the beginning of the present month, United States-owned gold amounted to $4,983,000,000, a new high record. Yet in the Republic at this very moment, some millions of men, women and children are fearfully wondering how they are going to keep warm and fed this coming winter.

Perhaps the people of the United States have little real relation to the gold standard in Britain, or its disappearance from it. Yet existing world realities have knocked so many ancient and cherished theories into a cocked hat it will be surprising if what has been done in Britain has much harm upon anybody. Currency changes, most certainly, long ago ceased to be a bugbear.—Ottawa Journal.

FASHION HINT

I agree to make my old short skirts conform to the new length with a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hem; and as the part that had been cut under way down to the knee, I redyed the entire dress after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package.

I used Diamond Dyes for the redyed, of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give permanent color. They wash fast to wear and washing friends think my things are new when I ready them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"

SICK HEADACHE?

It is not necessary to give in to headaches. It is just a bit old fashioned! The modern woman who feels a headache coming on at any time, takes some tablets of Aspirin and nothing more.

Keep Aspirin handy, and keep your engagements. Headaches, systematic pains, come at inconvenient times. "If I have a headache, I can end them before they've started, and you'll only remember this handy, harmless form of relief. Carry it in your purse and insist your comfort while you're out, especially pleasure at the theatre. Those little nagging aches that bring a case of "nerves" by day, are ended in a jiffy. Painful cramps at night, when you're forgotten half an hour after taking Aspirin! You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are proven directions which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart. They don't irritate the stomach. They're safe whenever you need them, and take enough to end the pain. Aspirin is made in Canada.

Little Possibility That Gold Mining Will Suffer Through Nations Dropping Gold Standard

"The possibility that the gold mining industry will suffer by reason of the tumultuous changes that have taken place in the world's financial relationships, is extremely remote," declared Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, in a statement at Toronto.

"Instead of gold bullion becoming less valuable, it would appear to be more desirable than ever," the Minister's statement continued. "Great Britain and other countries which have taken action which described as going on the gold standard, have actually taken steps to prevent further loss of their foreign metal and are endeavoring to restore their former reserves. There seems little danger of United States, with five billion dollars' worth, or France, with another huge total, doing, or permitting anything which would lessen the worth of their enormous holdings, such as sanctioning any scheme of demonetization."

"Nor is it likely that the British Empire, which produces three-quarters of the world's gold, and possesses billions of dollars worth of ore, will propose anything which will diminish the value of these great resources."

"Both United States and Great Britain have been off the gold standard in previous times of stress, yet gold has never lost its desirability nor its usefulness. This is the nothing in the situation which would discourage prospectors in their search for new discoveries, nor cause gold miners to restrict their activities."

"On the contrary, we will likely find that both activities will be accelerated. The exchange premium represents just so much extra profit for the gold mines and Ottawa authorities agree that the mines are entitled to any profit they could by selling their gold outside Canada, just as are the producers of paper, wheat, or any other exportable material."

Dark Skin Resists Sunlight

Does Not Let Beneficial Rays Through Physician Finds

The darker the colour of the skin the less it is affected by sunlight. Tests with half-breed and half-blended Indians show conclusively that the greater the amount of black and red in untanned skin the less is the change to colour from exposure. Dr. Forrest Clements of the University of Oklahoma, reports in the Journal of Physical Anthropology. The heavier pigment he holds, serves as a partial insulation from sun rays. Thus may explain, he holds, why negro and Italian children have been found more subject to rickets than those of lighter races even when the diet and environment are essentially the same. The pigment produced by exposure probably differs from that in unexposed skin and forms a storehouse for the anti-rachitic vitamin. Darker skins do not let the beneficial rays through. Dr. Clements found, however, that red skin changes less than black from exposure.

Silver Mining In Canada

Silver mining in Canada is not a distinct mining industry as silver generally occurs with other metals; with lead and zinc; with cobalt, nickel and arsenic; with lode and placer gold; in copper-gold ores and in nickel-copper ores. Silver in lead and zinc ores and in cobalt-nickel-arsenic ores is usually the predominating factor in determining the marketability of such ores.

Old Harvest Ceremonies

Strange Practices In West Of England Half Century Ago

Many old customs connected with the gathering in of the harvest have been dead these fifty years and more. When the grain was ready for cutting in the old days in the West of England, all kinds of strange practices were resorted to in order to scare the witches away, and a belief existed that the last wisp of corn in the harvest field was inhabited by the sacred horse. A horse representing the grain god would be eaten with special rites by the reapers at the harvest supper. There was also "curing the mare," the reapers tying together the tops of the last standing ears of corn in a field, "the mare," and using this as a target for their arrows. Then, as the mare down had the prize, all of the "mare" would be sent by a fleet-footed messenger to the next farmer who had not reaped his corn, emblem at once of a brag and a taunt.

Saskatchewan Potatoes

Average Yield In North Running At 150 Bushels To The Acre

Never in the history of Saskatchewan has there been such an exodus of potatoes from the northern part of the province as will take place shortly if plans of the Saskatchewan Relief Commission run according to schedule. Over a hundred carloads will roll southwards for the relief of the dried out areas and never before have Saskatchewan farmers had such an opportunity to show the wholesaler, the consumer and the consumer that this provincial product compares favorably with high standard, and good quantities sufficient to meet home needs.

The average yield is running at 150 bushels to the acre. Representatives of the markets branch are holding grading demonstrations daily in those areas in the north where potatoes are grown to any appreciable extent and it is interesting to learn that points as far northeast as Pinipaw, and Edan and Frenchman's Butte in the northwest are ready to ship a number of cars of potatoes forthwith. Grading demonstrations have been held at Salvador, Traynor, Senac, Glenbush, Fairholme, Fielding, Borden, Humboldt, Birch Hills and Prince Albert. At several points potato growers' associations have been formed.

Fashion Hogs

Practice Of Selling Light Weight Unfinished Hogs Very Unprofitable

In a review of the hog market situation as it exists at the present time, A. MacMillan, Chief of the Sheep and Swine Division, Dominion Livestock Branch, states that there is no justification for the practice which has been too general this season of trying to beat the market by selling off light-weight unfinished hogs to gain a few cents per pound at current prices. As he sees it, the principal effect of such practices has been to demoralize the market and force prices much below what they otherwise might be.

With Canadian hog prices drastically realigned both to suit domestic conditions and export market prices the common sense practice to use at the present time, according to Mr. MacMillan, is to finish hogs up to the proper weight, say 200 to 205 pounds.

This he believes is the one effective way in which to develop a "steady" hog market, to regularize marketing, and at the same time to improve quality.

Freight Rate Concessions And Other Forms Of Assistance In Connection With Feeder Cattle

Irvaluable During Famine

Potatoes Cultivated By Missionaries Save Lives Of Millions Of Chinese

Twenty-five years ago a handful of potatoes was sent from the United States to China. The missionaries propagated them in their remote corner of China along the Tibet border and during the last three years of famine descendants of the original potatoes have saved the lives of more than a million Chinese.

When the first Americans and Europeans penetrated the Kansu Province established mission stations in Tachow (Old City), some 40 years ago, they found a native potato which was small, poor, and had a very low food value. The natives of the district, with little regard for the future, had been in the habit each year of eating the best of the crop and saving the poorest potatoes for seed.

Four Early Rose potatoes were sent from Tennessee, and these were planted in 1897, two in Tachow, and two in Minchow. They grew very well and produced many tubers of fine quality in Chinese soil.

In a few years the new variety spread to several counties of the province, which had a total population of 10,000,000 people. But the Chinese, finding results in a recall of the old potato, would not eat back into their old habit of eating all the best, and also of allowing the new variety to become mixed with the diseased older type of potato.

The potato had become so popular when missionaries were again allowed in the country that they had to reintroduce them. The variety chosen was the Green Mountain which was planted in 1903.

The experience of Chinese planters with the other variety helped to speed the distribution of the Green Mountain tubers, which quickly supplanted both the native and the Early Rose types.

In the three years' famine since 1928, one of the worst famines the world has ever known, in half the population of Kansu, and also of the Province of Shensi, to the east have died. But where the Green Mountain potato was cultivated the larger part of the population has been able to subsist. It has been estimated that fully a million people have been living by eating these potatoes.

An authority on table etiquette says: "Never break your crackers or roll in your soup." Well, who ever really wanted to roll in their soup, anyway?

In order to clear up any possible misunderstanding in relation to policies now in effect, Hon. Robert Laird, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized a statement with reference to freight rate concessions or other forms of assistance to farmers in eastern and western Canada on purchases of feeder cattle.

Assistance to the movement of cattle between local points in western Canada is a 50 per cent reduction in normal carload freight rates on feeder cattle. This reduction has been authorized by the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to facilitate the direct purchase of cattle as between producer and feeder for fattening and shipment.

The rate decrease is not available on purchases from stock yards. When cattle shipped to the feeder are fat-tended and ready for shipment, the normal freight rates will apply to all points of destination in Canada.

With respect to the movement of western cattle fed for export in eastern Canada, this policy allows a reduction of 50 per cent. in normal freight rates on cattle shipped from any point east of Fort William to the seaboard for export. Provided such cattle were purchased in western Canada after June 30, 1931. This policy is in operation until December 31, 1931.

Under the policy of assistance to Canadian cattle feeders in purchasing western cattle, the prospective purchaser in eastern Canada is entitled to one-way travelling expenses. This includes railway fare, berth and reasonable living allowance en route, to purchase carload shipments from western stock yards, western feeder shows or, in the case of purchases from ranches, to the stock yards or feeder shows in the western provinces.

The British Columbia feeder is required to make his purchases of cattle under this policy at western stockyards at which a feeder sale is being held, or direct from ranches in British Columbia.

In all cases, cattle purchased under this policy of assistance to Canadian cattle feeders in purchasing western cattle are subject to regular freight rates, and the policy is in effect for five months commencing August, 1931.

All the policies mentioned relate specifically to the purchase of feeder stock. In addition to these, there are two other policies relating to the movement of females for breeding purposes.

A freight policy is in effect on approved breeders. Purchasers of heifers for breeding purposes may be made in any central stockyards in western Canada for shipment to any country point west of Fort William. Twenty-five per cent. of the rate is rebatable by the railway company, and the other 75 per cent is rebatable by the Dominion Livestock Branch.

A transportation policy on approved purchased females of beef or dairy breeds is in operation. This policy allows for free freight on carloads of approved purchased females from any railway point of loading in Canada, including points in the prairie provinces, to any other railway point in the prairie provinces, after having passed tuberculin and blood tests.

Bees Swarm In London

Three Swarms Invaded Busy Metropolis In One Day

Each summer a swarm of bees is known to take possession of the busy street of some city; but it is not often that three swarms arrive on the same day. That, however, happened to London.

One swarm chose King Street, Hammarsmith, and few round buses and street cars in clouds before settling on a tree; the police taking charge of the tree and barricading it. The second swarm chose the roof of a house in Shepherd's Bush; and the third chose the window-sill of a flat in Baywater.

Canada's Oldest Tunnel

The Canadian Pacific Railway tunnel under the Town of Brockville, Ontario, was opened Sept. 16, 1854, 77 years ago. At that time the tunnel, built under great difficulties, was owned and operated by the Brockville and Ottawa Railway, later absorbed by the Canada Central Railway, and finally by the Canadian Pacific. It is said to be the oldest railway tunnel in the Dominion, and trains still pass through it daily.

PAUL IN THESSALONICA AND BEIRUA

Golden Text: "Open Thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law."—Psalm 119, 18.

Lesson: Acts 17:15; I Thessalonians 2:12.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 119, 16.

Explanations and Comments

The First Results At Thessalonica, Acts 17:15—We find Paul's plan to evangelize the length and breadth of governmental centers, relying upon the spread of the gospel from these rallying points of the whole region and beyond. His work in Thessalonica shows that this is what happened at Thessalonica, I Thess. 1, 8. He went from Philippi to Thessalonica and remained there for three days. After hearing the same time, coming on a most successful work, as we learn from his letters to the church he founded.

The result of Paul's preaching was that some of the Jews and devout Greeks (Greeks who attended the gospel services and worshipped God) also became Christians and were convinced of the truth of the message, and "consorted Paul and Silas, cast their lot in with them and heard the word with gladness."

As Upon! Fomented By Jews, Acts 17:5-9.—Here again it was the Jews who opposed Paul. They were jealous of the converts to Paul's success, and gathering a crowd of idle loafers, they set the city in an uproar. These "vile fellows of the city" were the ones who "brought about the ruler of the city, the Roman authorities, to put the Christians in prison, charged them with sedition and treason. Jason had received into his house those who "turned the world upside down."

The rulers of the city were greatly disturbed. They feared the Roman authorities higher up. Claudius, who had held the post of governor, was represented by Suetonius as a man very jealous of the least commendation and timorous to the last degree, which caused him to run away. He would be watchful against anything that looked dangerous."—Matthew Henry.

The rulers must, however, have felt that for them to turn the Christians over to the Romans, they would be in evident evidence, for they took security from Jason and the rest and let them go.

"They took bond of Jason that there would be no rioting in the city, and this was only a method by which Jason could prevent rioting; it was to put a stop to the preaching. This was a very ingenious method of quieting the people."

For the ruler of the city, Henry, he would endanger the man who had generously taken him to his house and cared for him. So Paul retreated from Thessalonica.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

The ADVENTURES of CAPTAIN JIMMY and his Dog SCOTIE

WHAT CAME BEFORE—Late one afternoon, while on board the freighter "Madrigal" in the Chinese sea, Captain Jimmy, a trim little bandit ship drong on a little vessel, was taken off to the rescue in its "plane."

As we drew nearer, through the twilight, we could plainly see the flash from the gun of the Junk. The "Madrigal" was our "plane" every boy on board was pursuing the pirates. Quarter after quarter of a mile away, we moved down to the plane.

A little ship lay over with a heavy load above the water line. A large Chinaman was at the helm, and a long party of pirates surrounded all over her here and there, looking for shelter.

We had seen enough of buckshot shells.

We could not afford to wait.

After half a mile away, I went to the attack again. Suddenly I swooped down to the deck. We would scarce have been a terrible sight to see a plane and its crew flying over us.

We passed past the boats at about one hundred feet. The Chinese Junk was our target and how we had given plenty of buckshot shells.

We could not afford to wait.

HAS NO DOUBT ABOUT RESULT OF ELECTIONS

London, Eng.—"I was never more confident of anything in my life than of the final result this election will produce," declared Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, when seen by the Canadian Press.

"At the same time," Mr. Thomas continued, "frankly I am somewhat afraid of the impression which may be held in certain foreign places, and perhaps to some extent a certain part of the English, as to the exact position prevailing here. That is one reason I favoured an early election."

"I am convinced the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country is behind the National Government and will support it even though its policy of economy may be severe. That of itself will convince the whole world of the stability of this country."

Referring to the general position of the Empire in the present economic crisis, Mr. Thomas said he was more optimistic of the situation than ever before. "Although we are off the gold standard, we are the greatest banking country in the world," he said.

The British Empire need have no apprehension for the future. What has struck me most, in anything, is the manner in which the Dominions, without a solitary exception, have accepted the situation, knowing we here should do the right thing, and being ready to give us all the help they can."

As to the fiscal policy of the National Government, Mr. Thomas said: "I am not committed to any fiscal plan. . . . I do not think that the present is the time when a long program should be put forward. The first thing for this country to do is to deal with the adverse balance of trade."

Mr. Thomas remarked the adhesion of Canada and South Africa to the gold standard was entirely a matter for themselves. Unquestionably Canada must in the very nature of things be affected by the position of the United States, and he would not at present say how what should be done eventually.

British Parliament Has Been Prorogued

King George Summarizes Government's Effort To Overcome Financial Troubles

London, Eng.—The British Parliament was prorogued October 7, with a speech from the throne while excitement prevailed over the coming general election.

The King, in his speech, briefly summarized the efforts of the government to pull the nation out of its financial and economic troubles.

Only about 100 members of the House of Commons were scattered along the benches, many already having departed for their constituencies. Jests, jokes and outbursts of party feelings interrupted the proceedings as the members shouted across the floor of the House from the various sections.

Urge Moratorium

Year's Delay On Farm Loan Interest Would Assist Farmers

Winnipeg—A year's moratorium on farm loan interest would enable western Canada to make as rapid a recovery from the depression as any other section of the Dominion, and also would prevent many farmers giving up their farms, according to Col. H. A. Mullins, M.P. for Marquette.

Col. Mullins, who has just returned from a tour of his constituency, said if the mortgage and loan companies decide to take this course, they will be liable to financial disaster with a lot of vacant farms on hand.

Marquette, the member said, was not asking for relief, and is well able to take care of its own people.

Gandhi Is Impatient

Wants Government To Give Pledge Regarding Future Line of Action

London, Eng.—Although he appreciates that the general election and Britain's financial questions have recently made the Indian matter a secondary issue, Mahatma Gandhi is becoming restless. "I have been in England nearly a month now," he said, "and I have accomplished nothing except to become acquainted with England's poor and unemployed."

If, however, the Government will give certain pledges respecting its future line of action in handling the Indian issue I am willing to remain here until after the election. I am not one to strike his opponent while he is down. England must be given a chance to regain its feet, but at the same time the Indian question must not go unsolved indefinitely.

When I return to India, which I hope will be before the snow flies in England, I shall have something tangible to offer my people in the way of independence. Otherwise, India must now fight against our masters, which God forbid, because if the struggle is revived I fear Indians not only will be fighting Englishmen, but one Indian community will be pitted against another in racial strife."

Premier Ramsay MacDonald said the general election would not interfere with the Indian Round-Table Conference and that the Government will pursue its intention to settle the Indian problem before the year is over.

Mob Causes Trouble

Mounted Police Battle With Crowd In Heart Of London

London, England—A crowd of the unemployed using sticks, stones and fire crackers, battled with mounted police in front of the British Museum in the heart of London. Unable to restrain the relentless charging of the horses at a gallop and clubbing by police batons, the crowd, screaming, finally marched to Hyde Park; where it was served a free meal and went home.

The disorder began when the constabulary appeared and ordered the crowd, which had been marching down Boundary Lane, gathering new recruits, to stop. Instead, singing "The Red Flag," to disperse.

Some of the crowd, which immediately became infuriated, tossed fire crackers into the police ranks, stamping on the horses. Others gathered bricks and pieces of mortar and threw them at the police, who drew back and charged, arresting the ring-leaders.

Will Accept Peerage

Chancellor Of British Exchequer Decides To Take Title

London, Eng.—The Canadian Press learned that Rt. Hon. Phillip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has decided to accept a peerage.

Rt. Hon. Snowden has announced he will not seek re-election in the coming general election. Elevation to the peerage, however, would enable him to render continued valuable help to the National Government, from the Upper House, if it is successful at the polls.

Citizenship Qualities

Toronto, Ont.—The human quality of the mass of the people of Great Britain is far too low for successful coping with the duties of modern citizenship," Dr. L. P. Jacks, editor of Hibbert's Journal, recently resigned principal of Manchester College, Oxford, England, and known as England's leading philosopher on the subject of recreation, said in a newspaper interview here.

No Need Of Transients

Minister Of Labour Refers To Wanderings Of Unemployed Men

Ottawa, Ont.—No necessity exists for the continual wanderings of transient unemployed men, Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labour, said here. He also announced men going to work on the trans-Canada highway would have to provide themselves with suitable clothing or obtain it from other than governmental sources.

"There is no necessity for the continual rambling up and down of these men on the railways," said the Minister. "There is justification for it when the provinces are sending men to work on the roads. The transients are giving Canada the appearance of a country crowded with unemployed, when it is not. I am quite satisfied that there is no necessity for the liberty and license in transient travelling now rampant."

During his recent western trip, Senator Robertson said he had seen no signs of unemployment at divisional points in British Columbia. The transients there seemed to have disappeared.

Nationalization Of Credits

U.F.A. Leader Says Money Should Be Provided At Cost, Rather Than For Profit

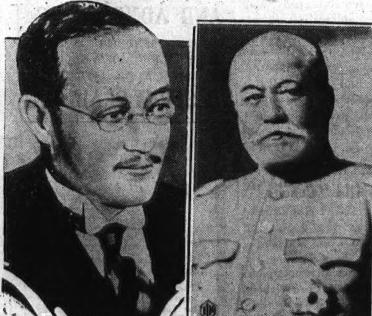

Lethbridge, Alberta—The Canadian banking system is a debt-creating system, according to Robert Gardner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta group in the House of Commons and president of the organization. In an address here he declared the system should be replaced by a nationalization of currency and credits than for profit as at present.

He also suggested that possibly capitalism has reached its zenith and should be replaced by a new economic order. He modified this remark by declaring that if a system is needed to meet the demands of the age, all classes will have to work together to reach a solution. War and revolt, with bloodshed will solve nothing, he maintained.

Predicts Jobless Insurance

He is said to have acted on his own authority and embarrassed his government.

MUST FORSAKE PARTY STRIFE, SAYS BRACKEN

Winnipeg, Man.—With Premier John Bracken renewing his plea for a non-party government in Manitoba and the executives of both the Liberal and Conservative parties holding meetings to discuss the proposal, its prospects of being accepted are the subject of keen speculation. At first the Conservatives appeared definitely opposed but Col. F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, came to Winnipeg from Portage la Prairie to discuss the matter at a meeting of leading party workers.

The Liberals were favourable from the start and the two are holding council over the scheme. While not opposed in principle John Queen Labour leader, objects to any economy programme under a union government which will mean the curtailment of certain social services.

In a speech at Killarney, Wednesday, October 7, the Premier made his first public pronouncement on the question. He said the proposal was not advanced with the idea of postponing the impending provincial elections. He hoped the other party leaders had not yet reached final decisions in opposition but if so the present government would carry on.

Increasing expenditure on unemployment relief and decreased revenues confronted the province with a serious financial situation he said. No good purpose could be served by party strife and bickering for political advantage at such a time.

So far the Government had been able to avoid a deficit and the fact that only recently it had sold a $5,000,000 bond issue showed the province was still in a sound position. It was necessary, however, to look to the future and retrench. Both individuals and governments needed more than ever to practice the virtues of thrift and frugality.

The sharp decline in the price of farm products has affected every sphere of activity in Manitoba, said the premier. This year the value of the province's farm products would be only $56,000,000, while at the worst of the depression in 1921-23 it was $100,000,000. While the burden fell on the farmers it affected also those engaged in other industries and in trade.

All governments, including the federal Government, were experiencing trouble owing to declining revenues and mounting expenditures, Manitoba was not alone and was better off than some others.

Discussing unemployment the Premier said, "Unfortunately a bad psychological effect has been among the people. The expectation of jobs for all willing to work has created false hopes in the minds of men already harassed by their difficulties. To give half-time jobs to all now out of employment would, with the materials necessary, require an amount equal to a 100 per cent increase in the provincial budget."

"This canker of our industrial system can not be allowed to remain but quite clearly the provision of government work for everyone is out of the question. It ought to be gotten out of people's minds. Yet it is the state's responsibility to help find jobs somewhere if our economic system is not to be acknowledged seriously defective and it is likewise the state's responsibility to see that no one willing to work go hungry or without clothing and shelter."

At an organization meeting to be held here, representatives of the railway labour union will attempt to lay the foundation for the formation of a 'Ship-by-rail' Association, whose members will be bound to deal only with firms which patronize the railways."

Consort Turkeys Gold Lined.

Further discovery of this nature was made when Mrs Jackson opened up another bird from the same flock, remarking at the time that she'd like to find a nugget also. And find another she did—not as large as that previously found, but a nice little piece of the same kind of material.—Cosort Enterprise.

MARGARET PEDLER

"The Splendid 'Hermit Of Far End.'"
Holder & Sloane, Ltd., London.

"I fear I seem intrusive. But I have taken a great fancy to your adventures—will you let me excuse?" She rose from the table, adding smiffling: "At least you will not find it dull, since Lady Anne has two sons. They will be companions for you."

Jean rose, too, and together they passed out of the salle a manger.

"And what do you propose to do with yourself today?" asked the Countess, pausing in the hall. "My husband and I are going for a sleigh drive. Would you care to come with us? We should be delighted."

Jean shook her head.

"It's very kind of you. But I should really like to try my luck on the ice. I haven't skated for some years, and as I feel a trifle shaky about beginning again, Monsieur Girolet, who directs the sports, has promised to coach me up by some time this morning."

"Bon!" said Jean de Varigny nodded pleasantly. "I am well occupied while we are away. Au revoir, then, till our return. Perhaps we shall walk down to the rink later to witness your progress under Monsieur Girolet's instruction."

W. N. U. 1911

She smiled mischievously, the smile irradiating her face with a sudden charm. Jean felt as though, for a moment, she had glimpsed the woman the Countess might have been but for some happening in her life which had soured and embittered it, setting that strange implacability within the liquid depths of her soft, southern eyes.

She was still speculating on Madame de Varigny's curious personality as she made her way along the skating track, that led towards the rink, and, as suddenly as the sun had brought the sheet of ice fully into view, all thoughts concerning the bunch of contradictions that goes to make up individual character were swept out of her mind.

In the glory of the morning sunlight the stretch of frozen water gleamed like a shield of burnished silver, whilst on its further side rose great pine-woods, mysteriously dark and silent, climbing the steeply rising ground towards the mountains.

There were a number of people skating, and Jean discovered Monsieur Girolet in the distance, supervising the practice of a pretty American girl who was cutting figures with an ease and exquisite balance of little body that hardly seemed to stand in need of the instructions he poured forth so fluently. Probably, Jean decided, Monsieur Girolet had entered for some match and was busily practised to a concert pitch accordingly.

She stood for a little time watching with interest the varied performances of the skaters. Bands of light-hearted folk, indulging in the sport just for the sheer enjoyment of it, sped gaily by, broken snatches of their talk and laughter drifting back to her as they passed, whilst groups of more accomplished skaters performed intricate evolutions with an earnestness and intensity of purpose almost worthy of the best.

Jean felt a little stranded and forlorn. She would have liked someone to share her enthusiasm for the marvels achieved by the figure-skaters—also to help with a little at their desire—but she had at the scraps of heraldic armament and the sarcasm of schoolmen techniques which came to her, borne on the still, clear air.

Presently her attention was attracted by the solitary figure of a man who swept past her in the course of making a complete circle of the rink. He skimmed the ice with the free assurance of an expert, and as he passed, Jean caught a fleeting glimpse of a supple, snowy figure, and of a lean, dark face, down-bent, with a cap crammed low on to the somewhat scowling brows.

There was something curiously distinctive about the man. Brief as was her vision of him, it possessed an odd definiteness—a vividness of impression that was rather startling.

He flashed by, his arms folded across his chest, moving with long, rhythmic strokes which soon carried him to the further side of the rink. Jean's eyes followed him intently. He was unmistakably an Englishman, and he seemed to be as solitary as herself, but, unlike her, he appeared indifferent to the fact, absorbed in his own thoughts which, to judge by the sullen, brooding expression of his face, were not particularly pleasant ones.

Soon she lost sight of him amid the scattered groups of smoothly gliding figures. The scene reminded her of a cinema show. People darted suddenly into the picture, materializing in full detail in the space of a moment, then rushed out of it again, dwindling into insignificant black dots which merged themselves into the continuously shifting throng beyond.

At last she bent her steps towards the lower end of the rink, by common consent reserved for beginners in the art of skating. She had not skated for many years, owing to a severe strain which had left her with a weak ankle, and she felt somewhat nervous about starting again.

Rather slowly she fastened on her skates and ventured tentatively on to the ice. For a few minutes she suffered from a devastating feeling that her legs didn't belong to her, and wished heartily that she had never quitted the safe security of the bank, but before long her confidence returned, and with it that flexible ease of balance which, once acquired, is never really lost.

If a short time ago she was thoroughly enjoying the rapid, effortless motion, and felt herself equal to steering a safe course beyond the narrow limits of the "Mugs Corner"—as that portion of the ice allotted to novices was unkindly dubbed.

She struck out for the middle of the rink, gradually increasing her speed and revelling in the sting of the keen, cold air against her face. Then, all at once, it seemed as though the solid surface gave way beneath her foot. She lurched forward, flung violently off her balance, and in the same moment the sharp clink of metal upon the ice betrayed the cause. One of her skates insecurely fastened, had come off.

She staggered wildly, and in another moment would have fallen had no one seen fit to intercede. A shadow, glided suddenly abreast of her, and, slipping a supporting arm round her waist, skated smoothly beside her, little by little slackening their mutual pace until Jean, on one blade all this time, could stop without danger of falling.

As they glided to a standstill, she turned to offer her thanks and found herself looking straight into the lean, dark face of the Englishman who had passed her when she had been watching the skaters.

He lifted his cap, and as he stood for a moment baredheaded beside her, she noticed with a curious little shock—half surprised, half appreciative—that on the left temple his dark brown hair was streaked with a single pure white lock, as though a finger had been laid upon the hair and bleached it when it lay. It conferred a certain air of distinction, and added value of character just as the shadow in a neutral-tinted picture gives sudden significance to the whole conception.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

"That was a near thing!" he observed.

Evidently he judged her to be a Frenchwoman, for he spoke in French very fluently, but with an unmistakable English accent. Instinctively Jean, who all her life had been frequently called upon to converse in French as English, responded in the same language.

She was breathing rather quickly, a little shaken by the suddenness of the incident, and his face took on a shade of concern.

"You're not hurt, I hope? Did you twist your ankle?"

"I'm not hurt, I hope? Did you twist your ankle?"

"I suppose it was. However, as you luckily happened to be there to save me from the consequences, no harm is done. Thank you so much."

There was a note of dismissal in her voice, but apparently he failed to notice it, for he held out his hands to her, crosswise, saying:

ACID STOMACH

EXCESS acid is the common cause of indigestion. It occurs in many sources about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has been recommended with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One handful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. Harmless, and tasteless, and yet its action is prompt. It acts directly on the stomach, once you learn how quickly that method acts. Be sure to get the genuine.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

"Let me help you to the bank and then I'll retrieve your errant skates for you."

He so evidently expected her to comply with his suggestion that, almost without her own volition, she found herself moving towards him towards the edge of the rink, her hands clasped in a close, steady clasp, and a moment later she was scrabbling up the bank. Once more on level ground, she made a movement to withdraw her hands.

"I can manage quite well now," she said rather nervously. There was something in that strong, firm grip of his which sent a curious tremor of consciousness through her.

Patient Was Hypnotized

Introducing New Method Of Painless Dental Operation

The Brooklyn Eagle has reported a bloodless and painless dental operation with hypnotism replacing anesthetic. The paper said the experiment was witnessed by its own science editor in the offices of Dr. J. Bruchlacher, Brooklyn dentist.

Walter L. Orton, mechanical engineer and vice-president of the Brooklyn Psychic Research society, kept a woman whose name was given only as "Miss M. C." under hypnotic influence for 15 minutes, the paper said, while Dr. Bruchlacher extracted a tooth, made an incision in a gum and cut away a growth of bone.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michells

BY TIME UNSTAINED

This is the greatest love, the love that lives
Unchanged by changing time and circumstance,
That still a portion of its glamour gives
To touch with peace each whim of madcap Chance.

It lends to life's adventure, strange and long,
Always a blessing by naught else conferred;
It is the sweetest lingering after song.

The hidden meaning of the spoken word.

No part in it have years, for it may be

The treasure of the heart from youth to age,
Or but an hour's sudden ecstasy.

Obliterated by life's turning page.

The fair ideal, desired and attained,

This is the only love by time unstained.

Moon Erratic In Its Course

The moon is so erratic, scientists say, that its position cannot be determined as exactly, as that of stars. That is, it is never where it should be in its theoretical orbit, and what is so strange, it is the only body known to disobey such laws. In an effort to solve the mystery, computers of the naval almanac office are making a two-year check on the occultations of stars by the moon.

Idea Claimed For Chinese

Antiquarians Say They Were Inventors Of Ink and Fountain Pens

The idea of a fountain pen goes a very long way back, and no one man can be considered its inventor. Certainly a crude fountain pen was in use in England in the seventeenth century, but antiquarians give credit to the Chinese as inventors of ink and fountain pens. It is claimed that the idea was Chinese, they were the inventors of ink and fountain pens, were in use in China hundreds of years before the Christian era began.

At the end of March this year there were more than 6000 animals in Wainwright park. To this number has since been added the annual increase of about 20 p.c., with the result that the park is again overtaxed as to its grazing possibilities, and thinning out has been decided on. On several former occasions large numbers of buffalo have been slaughtered and marketed.
